Public Will Get All Facts in Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell decided today to make public basic facts behind the steel strike in hopes of speeding negotiations and a settlement.

The information gathered by Mitchell as Eisenhower's personal fact-finder, will be made public for Thursday newspapers.

Mitchell said they will cover wages, prices, productivity, profits and a new related matters.

The secretary told a news conference the information covers a major part but not all of the facts he has been assembling from industrial and government sources.

Mitchell said the report will be a factual one with no recommendations for action.

He said he made no action proposals this morning in a 45-minute conference with Eisenhower.

He told questioners the projected release of facts "is not intended as intervention. We hope as a result of these background statistics that the parties will bargain a little harder and reach a settlement."

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flies here today to discuss the steel strike with his secretary of labor, James P. Mitchell. The strike is new in its sixth week.

The President scheduled an early hop by helicopter from his vacation home at Gettysburg, Pa., for a series of White House meetings. He'll go back to Gettysburg later today.

Prior to the meeting, there was no White House comment on a call to make public a fact-finding report on the strike by Mitchell to the President. The call came from Sens. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.).

The President has advocated a hands-off treatment of the labor dispute in the key basic industry. President David J. McDonald of the United Steelworkers' Union Monday repeated his formula for ending the strike deadlock: get the top industry leaders to negotiate directly with the union.

McDonald, speaking at an AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting at Forest Park, Pa., suggested Eisenhower could prevail on steel company chiefs to do this.

In New York, a committee of 12 of the struck steel companies bought newspaper advertisements to explain what happened to the industry's record profits of 783 million dollars for the first half of the year.

The steel companies have argued that they can't increase wages without inflationary price increases for steel.

The advertisements said dividends of 268 million dollars were paid to stockholders for the first Aug. 2 billion dollars paid out in wages and salaries for the same period.

The ads said about a third of the record total profit was a "phantom profit" used by the companies to cover the inflated cost of replacing tools and facilities.

Another third of the profits, the statement said, went into improvement and enlargement of plants and equipment, working capital, new sources of raw materials, research facilities and improvement of efficiency.

The new classrooms at Garland and Brookwood will house Oglesby students for the 1959-60 school year. Since the new auditoriums were constructed at Brookwood and Garland Schools this made available four new classrooms in the two schools.

And as was announced last spring Oglesby teachers and students will be absorbed in Garland and Brookwood schools, making use of all classroom space available in the two schools. Each of these schools contains two classrooms and auditorium space.

Most of the students who attended Oglesby School last year will attend Brookwood, with some being transferred to Garland and Paisley.

Students who reside North of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and West of North Walnut Street will attend Paisley School, others that attend Oglesby living East of North Walnut Street and North of the Missouri Pacific Railroad may report to Brookwood School.

All students who attended Garland, Brookwood and Paisley last year may report to those schools. Transfers may have to be made after the first day, in order to balance the teaching load in schools.

Heavy Rainfall in Much of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Heavy rains and severe electrical storms hit sections of the state late yesterday and last night. The storms were not general, however.

Only minor damage was reported. Damascus, in Faulkner County, apparently had the heaviest rainfall. More than six inches was reported there.

Some disturbance in telephone circuits was reported at Damascus and other points. Most interruptions were cleared up within a short time.

Other comparatively heavy rainfall readings included: Searcy, 2.40 inches; Batesville, 2.13; Shirley, 2.11; Clinton, 1.06; Fayetteville, 1.32, and Huntsville, 1.40.

Missing Girl May Have Met Foul Play

WYNNE, Ark. (AP)—Police said today that foul play was feared in the disappearance of a pretty, 15-year-old girl who left home a week ago in a car she barely knew how to drive.

Police Chief Kenneth Shaw said he sent out a four-state alert for Barbara Lou Riley after her family reported her missing.

Nothing has been learned about the girl.

Shaw gave this account: Barbara Lou, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Riley, drank some beer while downtown on the night of Aug. 10 and police took her home. About 4 o'clock the next morning she drove off in an old model automobile, one of two owned by her family.

The girl was believed to have little money. There was only a small amount of gasoline in the tank of the car.

Shaw said Barbara Lou was a poor driver and there was a possibility of foul play in the disappearance.

He described her as 5-4, 110 pounds, with dark hair and dark eyes. He is a sophomore in high school.

The girl's father is a representative for a wholesale hardware firm.

Dollarway to Appeal Ruling of Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Dollarway School Board today planned to appeal to the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals from an order denying it a delay in the admission of three Negro students to the all-white Dollarway School near Pine Bluff.

U. S. District Judge Axel J. Beck yesterday refused to stay his Aug. 4 decree for integration of the school.

The board had asked for the postponement pending a review of Beck's original ruling.

The appeals court itself may issue such a stay if it wishes.

The board said it would use the 1959 Arkansas pupil placement act in making assignments for schools, which are scheduled to open Sept. 8.

Beck ruled the 1959 and earlier 1926 placement acts were valid on their face but that the board had used them to try to prevent three qualified Negroes from entering the Dollarway school.

The board said it would start reintegration under the 1910 act next week.

Petitions were being circulated among white patrons in the Dollarway District calling on Gov. Orval E. Faubus to "use all the forces at your command" to block the court-ordered integration.

School Board President Lee Parrish said the board had "absolutely nothing" to do with the petitions.

Tommy Sands to Try Ballads

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Tommy Sands says he's going to switch from rhythm and blues to more serious ballads.

"Somebody has got to do it. Kids nowadays don't know what the serious songs sound like," he told reporters Monday.

Gas Contract Goes Before the PSC

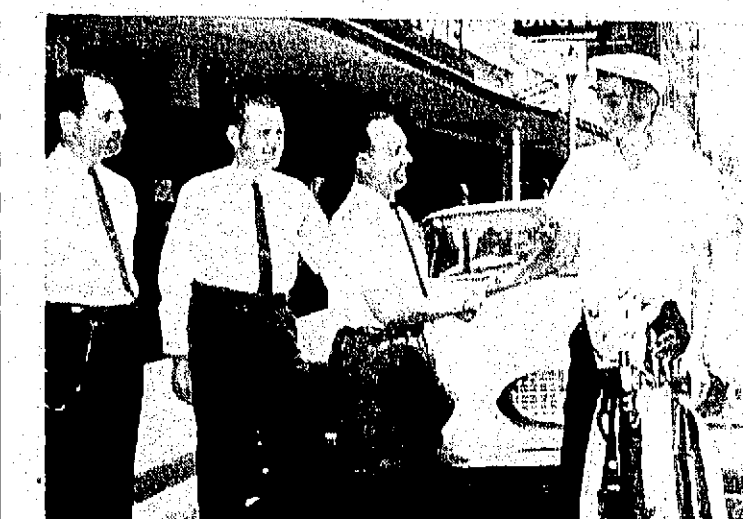

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An industrial natural gas contract between Enbridge and the City of Clarksville and Arkansas Western Gas Co. of Fayetteville was submitted for approval to the state Public Service Commission yesterday.

Arkansas Western wants to sell Pureka Creek gas under a renewable annual contract on an agreed upon basic charge of $2,000 a month for 10 million cubic feet of gas.

The PSC has not set a date for hearing on the request.

Series of Earthquakes Hit Northwest Leaving a Mounting Death Toll

Hope Lineman Narrowly Escapes Death

A Hope Water and Light Plant Lineman, Cannon May, about 30, narrowly escaped death late yesterday when he accidentally touched a 2,400 volt wire while working on an electrical pole in the 1300 block of West Avenue B. Normally the wire carries about 4,100 volts.

He slumped across the wire and was rescued by a fellow lineman, William E. Butler. Mr. Butler got him from across the wire and brought him down the pole. A rescuer from the Fire Department quickly revived Mr. May. He was rushed to a local hospital by an Oakes ambulance.

Fortunately he suffered only two severe burns, on an arm and leg. His condition was reported very good today.

Revival to Start at Spring Hill

A revival meeting will start Sunday, Aug. 23 and continue through Aug. 29 at Spring Hill Methodist Church. The Rev. Rufus Sorrells will preach each night at 7:30.

School Board President Lee Parrish said the board had "absolutely nothing" to do with the petitions.

16 Reportedly Killed, Many Are Stranded

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Earthquakes hit the Northwest from British Columbia to Wyoming Monday night and early today, leaving a mounting death toll over southwestern Montana. The shocks were so severe a big Montana dam was damaged and a mountainside tumbled into a river.

Sixteen deaths were reported. Sheriff Lloyd Brock at Virginia City, by a helicopter pilot who flew over the scene. The Idaho State Police in a radio broadcast said there had been eight deaths.

A radio station executive who got into the area said he learned that two people had been buried by a landslide in the Madison River canyon below the big slide area.

The report of the people covered by the slide came from Richard D. Smiley, president and general manager of radio station KXXL at Bozeman, Mont., who got into the stricken area as far as the big slide. He said he was told that three boys escaped the same slide.

The helicopter pilot told Sheriff Brooks he had counted the six bodies during a flight over the scene.

The report of deaths came from the Madison County sheriff's office.

The chief of the Montana Highway Patrol, Alex B. Stephenson, was quoted by State Civil Defense Director Hugh Pinter as saying between 100 and 150 people apparently were marooned between the dam and the slide.

Sheriff Donald J. Skerritt and Pilot Al Newby, after an early morning flight over the area said "a mountain slid into the river."

They estimated the slide is 200 to 300 feet high.

The 35-mile long Hobgen Reservoir was "lipped askew" by the quake with the north shore dropping from 6 to 15 feet and the south shore rising as much. They said a giant fissure has opened up the length of Hobgen Lake on the north side.

A campground in Madison Canyon was completely buried by the slide, the sheriff and pilot reported, and bits of wreckage which appeared to be parts of tents and trailers were littered about in the debris.

Sheriff Skerritt theorized that the damage to Hobgen Lake probably was caused by an earthquake near midnight.

The tremors centered their wrath in the area in and around Yellowstone National Park.

They were felt in varying intensity from British Columbia to Oregon, across Washington, Idaho, Montana and parts of Wyoming.

A park spokesman said it was possible Old Faithful and many other geysers had been altered by a possible shift in the subterranean cavities.

Just west of Yellowstone, Hobgen Dam was threatened with collapse by the fury of the original quake at 11:30 p.m. (MST) and a series of now-sharp, now-mild, tremors that followed.

Northward along the Madison River that flows from the 44-year-old concrete dam, officers alerted hundreds of residents to prepare for immediate evacuation.

The nearest city is Emin, Mont., 45 miles north, with an estimated 100 residents.

Hugh K. Potter, state civil defense director, said conflicting reports told of leakage and possible cracks in the dam.

The resort community of West Yellowstone, Mont., suffered property damage. Three persons were reported injured there, none seriously.

The quakes epicenter was fixed 600 miles northeast of Berkeley, in southeastern Montana.

At Berkeley, Calif., a University of California seismologist set the quake's magnitude at 7.5 on the Richter scale. The San Francisco Chronicle reported the quake.

est Claimed No Incident Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Despite a claim of unrest, a Negro youth integrated Central High school without encountering trouble.

Negro girls sauntered into Hall High, the integrated school.

Officials denied that 10 Jefferson Thomas, the Negro at Central had been with white students. The senior, also denied it.

A segregationist minister made a claim that he was joined and at by a small group of pupils as he left school yesterday.

As the first such incident since 1,200-pupil Central since high schools opened Wednesday.

Minutes after Thomas entered Central today, a car with a license tag passed the school and the driver shouted: "The jigabos going to there."

Among the few spectators mostly tourists and news-reelers "yes" and the man off.

Negro girls at Hall have trouble.

Lamb, school board secretary, said Superintendent E. Powell had assured disciplinary problems had in the schools.

Bids on Little Red Dams to Be Opened

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bids on construction of two earthen auxiliary dams on the Little Red River near Heber Springs are to be opened today by the Little Rock Army Engineers office.

The project, in connection with construction of Greers Ferry Dam, is expected to cost some three million dollars. The dams will protect low areas near Heber Springs from flooding after the reservoir is in operation.

Chile Expels a Party of Cubans

By STANFORD BRAUSHAW

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile today expelled a party of Cuban soldiers and newsmen who, ostensibly on a good will trip, landed without authorization in Santiago Monday aboard a Cuban air force transport.

Two Chilean warplanes escorted the Cuban craft from this city, scene of the Inter-American foreign ministers conference on Caribbean tensions which both Cuba's Premier Fidel Castro and his brother, Maj. Raul Castro, have called a farce.

The transport flew to Lima, Peru.

The Chilean government promised every courtesy to Raul, commander in chief of Cuba's armed forces, if he chose to come on to this city. But the fiery, 39-year-old revolutionary may have canceled his plans now that the advance party has been turned back.

Lima reported no indications that he planned to continue on to Santiago, where the ministerial conference ends today.

The Chilean government protested to Cuba over the plane's arrival with armed soldiers aboard and without permission.

California Ruckus Victory for Butler

By MURRAY FROMSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ruckus over tickets has ended in a complete victory for Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler and Los Angeles will keep the 1960 party convention.

Butler threw the prestige of his office into a showdown over seating with wealthy oilman Edwin C. Pauley. The dispute almost cost this city its first major political convention.

Pauley bowed out Monday as finance chairman of the host committee and the old committee was disbanded.

Pauley had insisted the committee was promised 5,000 tickets a day to the July convention in return for its $350,000 guarantee to the national committee. He later offered to compromise and accept 3,133. Butler refused him on both counts.

A new sponsoring group was formed. It agreed to underwrite the guarantee and accept Butler's top ticket offer—1,500 tickets a day. Butler had threatened to pull the convention out of Los Angeles unless his terms were met.

The new group agreed to another key Butler demand, opposed by Pauley: transfer of all advertising revenue from the convention program to the Democratic National Committee.

The five-minute meeting of Butler and local officials ended a five-month dispute climaxed when Butler threatened to move the convention to another city.

The old committee was replaced with one headed by Republican Mayor Norris Poulson as chairman and Dan A. Kimball, president of Aerojet General Corp., as executive chairman. Kimball was secretary of the navy under former President Harry S. Truman.

Mark Boyar, wealthy real estate developer and financial chairman of the Democratic National Committee in Southern California, replaced Pauley.

Labor Will Try to Slash Control Bill

By NORMAN WALKER

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — AFL-CIO chiefs mapped plans today to try to get Congress to cut from Senate and House labor control bills the provisions to which organized labor objects most.

The differing bills passed by the two houses are now before a joint conference committee. The union leaders expressed dislike for both, but held some hope that the conference group might write a bill to salvage what organized labor considers the better features of each.

That hope obviously ran counter to the mood of many Congress members pushing for a bill they consider strong enough to control racketeering and other abuses shown by Senate investigations in relations.

The AFL-CIO leaders are attending executive council sessions in this Pocono Mountain resort area. They still are trying to figure the 229-201 House vote last week that upset House leadership plans and put over a labor control bill personally endorsed by President Eisenhower. It was the measure least desired by union leaders who had criticized it as too severe than the much milder version passed earlier by the Senate.

In formal actions, the executive council pledged all-out support for the striking Steel Workers Union and decided to reverse organized labor's six-year expulsion of the International Longshoremen's Assn. on corruption charges.

State Sells 330 Acres of Land

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Purchasing Department has accepted a $24,633 bid by Elrod Lumber Co. of Pine Bluff for 330 acres of land in Jefferson County.

The land, sold as surplus by the Negro Boys Industrial School at Wrightsville, had been appraised at $20,000. Purchasing Agent Mack Sturgis said.

Deed on 2,612 acres of surplus Pulaski County land from the school will be opened Aug. 31.

Power Failure Big Problem in New York

By MARK T. SHEEHAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Lights flickering off in hospital operating rooms. Elevator service knocked out in huge apartment buildings. Packed subways, with a sweating human cargo, trapped in underground tunnels. That was the picture as a sudden power failure struck the heart of Manhattan.

The power failure hit thousands of buildings in a 500-block section of upper Manhattan, leaving a half million people without elevators, air conditioning, electric lights, or any of the complex systems that keep a great city functioning smoothly.

The power failure began in mid-afternoon Monday. Gradual restoration continued into the early morning hours today.

The mercury was near 90 when power went off and the humidity was suffocating. Suddenly every intersection became a traffic jam. Then the recovery began. In hospitals, emergency lights came on. Extra police poured into the area, straightened out the traffic. Police sent emergency generators to Mount Sinai Hospital, where nine polio patients in iron lungs depended on auxiliary power.

Another Tourist Family Welcomed to Hope

MR. AND MRS. CHESTER MEYER and two sons, Steven and Dale, of Indianapolis, Ind., were the recipients of Hope hospitality last Thursday as provided by the Chamber of Commerce. Tourist vacation and were planning to spend several days in Houston, Texas, with relatives and friends. They were stopped on Highway 67 East by Charles Wylie of the Hope police force, Mitchell LaGrone and Raymond Byers of the Tourist Committee.

Others participating in the program were E. P. Young, Sr., representing the Young Chevrolet Sales, Jim City of Radio Station KXAR, J. Raymond Johnson of the Oaks Cafe, E. L. Archer Jr., Hope Basket Company, Southwest Wood Products Company, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tarpley of Tarpley's Motel and the Chamber of Commerce.

The Meyer family seemed to enjoy their short visit in Hope and stated that this town would be a stopover for them on any future trips down this way.

Crowd Keeps Police From Pursesnatcher

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Two white policemen in plain clothes said a large, unruly crowd of Negroes interrupted their pursuit of a youthful Negro purse snatcher at a housing project Monday night.

The milling crowd was dispersed only after about 20 uniformed policemen were sent to the area of the predominantly Negro housing project.

Three dogs of the police canine corps were used to force back the crowd. No arrests were made.

Patrolman Richard Jones said at least 500 Negroes had gathered before reinforcements arrived. By this time the crowd included women and children, who apparently were merely curious, he said.

The purse snatcher fled into a building at the project and escaped.

Jones and his partner, Donald Strate, had fired three shots at the running youth when they were surrounded. Jones said the crowd was screaming and cursing — numbered perhaps 200 within a few minutes and continued to increase.

"They had me pinned against a taxicab and two of the men grabbed me. Strate was a little distance away from me and was surrounded, too," Jones said.

Jones had the driver of the cab summon additional police via the taxi's two-way radio.

Jones and Strate had been stationed in a bus in an effort to solve a recent series of bus hold-ups.

Bessie Dies After Birth of Twins

ROGERS, Ark. (AP) — Bessie, the cow which gave birth to two calves of different breeds, has died.

Her owner, Rogers dairyman George W. Moore, blamed a milk deficiency commonly known as "milk fever," plus the strain of the double birth.

The calves, one of Angus parentage and the other of Holstein descent, are doing fine, Moore said. Moore bought the nine-year-old Jersey cow knowing she might produce an offspring from either an Angus or a Holstein bull. He was surprised, however, when he got a calf of each breed.

Veterinarians termed the birth rare, but not impossible.

cisco earthquake of 1906 had a magnitude of 8.25 on the same scale.

HELENA (AP) — A Montana civil defense report said today between 100 and 150 people in about 50 automobiles apparently are marooned in a canyon between Heavens Dam, damaged by earthquakes during the night, and a rockslide seven miles below the dam.

The Montana civil defense director, Hugh Potter, said the report was from the pilot of a State Highway Department plane which flew over the scene.

The rockslide has damaged the river below the dam, Potter said he was advised, and the water is rising slowly.

He said this indicated that the dam is holding, at least partially. Potter quoted the pilot of the plane as saying that rain and low clouds kept him from getting a good view of the dam itself.

The Montana Power Co., which owns the dam, said at 7 a. m. the 27-foot-high concrete structure is leaking. One spokesman expressed fear it "could go." Earlier the company said there was a hole in the top of the dam.

DOROTHY DIX

Victory Often Turns Sour After Sweet Anticipation

Dear Dorothy Dix: I met a boy stationed at an army base in my town and fell in love with him. I see him every night and think I have ever met. The only thing is — The boy is a girl back home. He says he loves her, but also how he can love two girls at once. He is the man I want for my husband — honest and a steady churchgoer. Would it be fair for me to take him away from her? He says he could be happy with either of us. Should I fight for the man I love.

Dear Renee: Does the girl back home know she has competition? If she does, the field is open. However, if you win, you might not find victory to sweet. The boy is uncertain and fickle. He is not yet ready to be a loyal, true husband. Maybe he's just to young. Give him a chance to mellow and mature, then see if you appeal to each other.

Bullets Fly, Police Take Fleeing Pair

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — Police captured two men in an automobile crammed with merchandise near Waldenburg last night after a wild, bullet punctuated road chase.

No one was hit in the fusillade of bullets from police guns during the 32-mile pursuit of the car.

Sheriff C. T. Sullivan said Weston F. Welch, 28, of Little Rock, and James William Clifton, 28, of North Little Rock, were jailed on open charges at Harrisburg.

The sheriff said at least 10 charges, including burglary and grand larceny, would be filed against the pair.

The chase began at Marked Tree when a resident reported to police he found two men burglarizing a house. Deputy Sheriff Ray Holmes of Harrisburg was notified and took off after the car described in the burglary report.

Holmes said the fleeing car zig-zagged back and forth along state Highway 14 at about 50 miles an hour, endangering other motorists.

He radioed State Trooper Sid Riley at Harrisburg, who set up a roadblock.

The fugitives' car got past the roadblock. Riley opened fire with a carbine. He hit the car off 10 or 15 shots and one punctured the car's left rear tire but the auto did not stop.

Holmes, still in hot pursuit, got close enough to fire 11 times with a shotgun. Backshot rattled the right rear tire of the crippled car but it kept going.

Finally, the rear bumper broke loose at one end and screeched along the pavement. The fugitives halted, a short distance from Waldenburg. They surrendered without resistance.

Wants Probe of Reported Arms Smuggle

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dewey J. Coffman, a Little Rock segregationist, today said he had telegraphed U. S. Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers requesting an immediate investigation of reliable reports that several cartons of firearms were smuggled into our city by armed Negroes.

He said in the telegram that he would "furnish you with information made available to me."

Coffman declined to discuss his information with a newsman.

Coffman last week unsuccessfully sought prosecution of city police officials on federal charges in connection with the subging of a segregationist demonstration at Central High School shortly before school opening on Wednesday.

Another segregationist leader said today that fees of integration will turn to the ballot box in their fight to stop desegregation of public high schools.

Amis Guthridge, attorney for the Capital Citizens Council, said that in November elections for the city board of directors and December school board balloting white people "will have their opportunity to rectify a huge mistake."

Guthridge said that if school board members, Negro leaders, city officials and others "think that integration has been effectively accomplished in Little Rock they are deceiving no one but themselves."

Guthridge said "the people of Little Rock will never accept integration in any form" and added "the lines are drawn tighter than ever before."

California Town Hit by Flood

NEEDLES, Calif. (AP) — A desert cloudburst almost isolated this tiny Colorado River town Monday night.

The flash flood ended early today — as abruptly as it started. An estimated 200 motorists are stranded, three railroad workers were missing, and parts of U.S. Highways 66 and 95 were washed out.

Sheriff's officers said the flood sealed off the town on the north, south and west — and threatened the road leading eastward. U.S. 66 is a transcontinental road through the town.

Although the rain stopped, traffic was stalled early today by debris-clogged roads and bridges destroyed by the water that poured out of desert arroyos.

Three members of a Santa Fe railway crew of five still were missing early today. The men had been dispatched by truck to check a washout 15 miles north of this town.

A few hours later, railroad workers found two of the crew, George Ashmore, the crew foreman, and Gerommo Rodriguez, the truck driver, wandering near a road.

Ashmore was in a dazed condition with head and body injuries. The torrent flipped their truck like a toy, Rodriguez said, adding that he had saw his fellow workers clinging to the sides of the vehicle.

Police Chief Robert Ford said the rainfall started about 9 p. m. Needles is just west of the Colorado River, the boundary between California and Arizona.

Would Emphasize Farm Management

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Doe, O. G. Snowden, head teacher trainer of Mississippi State College, advised Arkansas vocational agricultural instructors to emphasize farm management to their students, rather than more high yield farm production.

Snowden addressed the first day of the state conference on vocational education yesterday.

He illustrated his recommendation with this example: "I could take any acre of farmland in Arkansas and make 200 bushels of corn on it — if I was willing to spend enough money on it. But would that be the best thing to do?"

Although agricultural teaching in the past has aimed at getting the most production out of a farm, he said, big production too often is the way to turn a profit.

A farm is a business and should be managed in the best business fashion, Snowden said.

About 750 vocational teachers attended the first day's sessions of the conference, which runs until tomorrow.

Chisox Cling to League Lead; Indians Lose

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox managed to hold their American League lead without Dick Donovan, but can they do it without Billy Pierce?

With Donovan still a question mark after a three-week layoff because of an ailing shoulder, the White Sox pitching staff was handicapped by another jolt Monday when Pierce was sidelined for five to eight days. The stubby southpaw pulled a back muscle last weekend.

That puts more pressure on Early Wynn, a wonder at 39, Bob Shaw and Batsy Latman, their only dependable starters, and relievers Turk Lown and Gerry Staley for what figure to be 10 telling days for the White Sox.

Chicago plays 11 games in those 10 days, then plunges into a four-game series at Cleveland against the second-place Indians, still 3½ games behind after dropping a three-game series to Detroit.

The Indians, blowing a 3-0 lead, lost 5-4 to the Tigers in the only game scheduled in the AL Monday. It was a quick make-up game for Sunday's rainout at Detroit, which wiped out a 3-0 Cleveland lead.

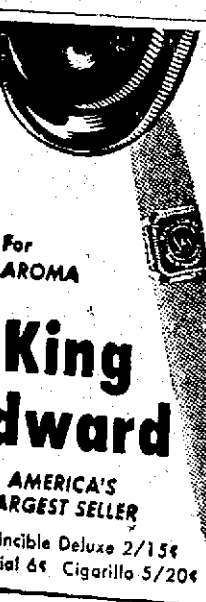

In the National League, San Francisco regained a three-game lead with a 6-3 victory at Cincinnati while second-place Los Angeles and third-place Milwaukee split a two-night doubleheader. The Braves took the opener 3-1, but the Dodgers then won 4-3. Pittsburgh defeated the Chicago Cubs 7-6, and St. Louis beat Philadelphia 5-4.

Pierce (12-13) hasn't contributed as much as expected to the White Sox drive, winning only four of seven decisions since they blasted off from second place, two games behind Cleveland, for a 27-10 record beginning July 5.

The Indians built a quick lead at Detroit yesterday, scoring three in a second inning triggered by Rocky Colavito's 35th home run. But the Tigers battled back behind the eight-hit pitching of Paul Foytack (11-10), the right-hander Cleveland bombed Sunday. He gave up only four hits over the last seven innings.

Gary Bell (13-10) was the loser after winning five in a row as a reconverted starting pitcher. Charley Maxwell hit his 38th homer for the Tigers, who came from behind with three in the fifth, capped by Harvey Kuenn's two-run single, and put it away in the sixth on Lou Berberet's sacrifice fly.

Widowville, on a country road east of Mansfield, Ohio, was so named because so many women, widowed by the Civil War, settled there.

Duck Season Is Cut to Forty Days

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' duck hunting season for 1956 has been cut almost in half from that of last year, the state Game and Fish Commission said yesterday.

Drought conditions in Canada, which caused a later than usual hatching season, led to the reduction, the commission said.

The duck season this year for Arkansas, which is in the Mississippi Flyway, will run from Nov. 30 through Jan. 8, a 40-day period compared to 70 days in last year.

Daily bag and possession limits will be the same — four ducks per day or eight in possession. This may include one wood duck. Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset, except on opening day when shooting begins at noon.

Arkansas was given an option by the Interior Department on a 40-day season with four ducks and eight in possession, or a 50-day season with three ducks and six in possession. The commission decided most hunters would prefer the former, Gus Albright, commission publicist, said.

Hunters will have a 70-day season on geese, from Oct. 31 through Jan. 8. Snipe season was set for Dec. 10 through Jan. 8.

bloody meeting last March, is billed for 13 rounds, or less. A crowd of 10,000 is expected to watch at the Olympic Auditorium, as well as a nationwide television audience.

The fight will be telecast beginning at 7 p.m. DST over the ABC network.

Willies Come Through Again for the Giants

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

A bunch of Willies came late in the San Francisco Giants' win over the Los Angeles Dodgers, with Willie Mays, Willie McCovey or Willie Kirkland coming through in the late innings to keep 'em out front in that National League pennant chase.

Since taking over first place on July 30, the Giants have won 12 of 17 games—and in 9 of those victories they didn't score the clincher before the seventh inning. Fact is, in the 9 late comebacks, two were won in the seventh, three in the eighth, two in the ninth and two in extra innings.

Kirkland's done the job three times, Mays and McCovey twice each.

It was that way again Monday night as the Giants came from behind with five runs in the last three innings for a 6-3 victory over Cincinnati that gave San Francisco a three-game bulge.

Mays drove in the run that tied it 3-3 with a sacrifice fly in the seventh inning. A pinch single by McCovey got the winning run home in a two-run eighth.

That added a half-game to the Giants' lead as second-place Los Angeles split a two-night doubleheader at Milwaukee, winning 4-3 after losing 6-1 to the third place Braves, who trail by four games.

Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 7-6 in a battle for fourth place, and St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 5-4.

In the American League, Detroit made it a three-game sweep over Cleveland, winning 5-4 and dropping the second-place Indians 3½ games behind the Chicago White Sox in the only game scheduled.

A seventh-inning home run by Don Zimmer, his fourth, did it for the Dodgers in the nightcap with three runs in the fifth, two of them unearned. Johnny Podres (10-7) won it with five innings of four-hit, shutout relief. Bob Rush (5-4) was the loser in relief for the Braves, who scored their three in the first inning against Stan Williams.

Milwaukee backed a seven-hit performance by Bob Buhl (13-1) with three home runs in the opener. Joe Adcock's 17th came with a man on in a three-run first inning against loser Sandy Kousser (6-3), who also gave up Ed Matthews' solo 38th in the second.

Mathews' Hank Aaron, who missed two games because of back trouble, was 4-for-5 in the opener, including his 31st home run.

The Pirates, who trailed 4-0 after three innings, took the lead in a three-run fifth triggered by Rocky Nelson's two-run homer, then needed a walk, Bob Cieniente's single and an error to break a 6-6 tie in the seventh.

Ernie Banks drove in three runs for the Cubs, two with his 37th home run, good for the major league homer lead. Rookie Fred Green won his first major league decision in relief for the Braves.

Bill Henry (7-6) lost it. Curt Flood drove in three runs for the Cards, counting the clincher in the sixth with a sacrifice fly against loser Ray Sempach (3-9). Wilmer Mizell (12-7) beat the Phils for the fifth time without defeat this year, but needed Lindy McDaniel's relief after he had them blanked on three hits for eight innings.

Basic Problems of Third Loop Are Discussed

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At least five basic problems were slated to be thoroughly discussed today when baseball's top brass met with organizer William A. Shea on the projected third major league.

1. Where does this unborn Continental League plan to recruit the necessary 200 players?

2. What would be left of the minor league structure if the new league were to raid the ranks of the International League, American Association and Pacific Coast League?

3. How many cities actually could produce stadiums of major league quality and capacity?

4. How would the Continental League maintain the interest of the players and public without World Series incentive?

What would the new league propose to compare favorably with the major league players' pension plan?

Commissioner Ford Frick, head of the seven-man major league committee, acknowledged he was eagerly waiting to hear the answers. Shea, the New York lawyer and guiding spirit of the still unborn Continental League, answered himself.

Shea, however, insists his league has no financial, personnel or park problems.

Shea has backers for five teams: New York, Houston, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Denver and Toronto. It membership from San Diego, Portland, Seattle, Buffalo, Miami, Montreal, Dallas, Ft. Worth, San Juan and Puerto Rico.

A close friend of Gov. Orval F. Faubus, Karam often was accused of fomenting the Sept. 23, 1957, segregationist riot at Central High School. He steadfastly denied this.

"I know Christ is so much more important than segregation or integration," Karam said of his new way of life.

Butler to End Ticket Fuss in California

By MURRAY FROMSON

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler today was expected to announce an end to the ticket argument that threatened to cost Los Angeles the party's 1960 convention.

Republican Mayor Norris Poulson, denying a Chicago newspaper report that Los Angeles had withdrawn its offer to hold the convention, said: "I'm positive it will be held here."

Consistently absent from a conference scheduled late this afternoon will be wealthy oilman Edwin O. Pauley, credited by many with raising most of the $350,000 necessary to underwrite convention costs.

Pauley returned to his home in the Hawaiian Islands Friday after an inconclusive meeting with Butler and the host committee.

Pauley insisted he was given a guarantee of 5,000 convention tickets in exchange for his fund-raising efforts. That would be ten times more than any host city has ever received.

Butler says there was no guarantee. "The host city can have 1,500 tickets and I don't mean 1,501," he said.

When it looked as if an impasse had been reached, Poulson suggested a compromise. Would Pauley accept 3,133 tickets? Pauley, an old friend of former president Harry S. Truman and no admirer of Butler, said he would.

Paul Butler stood by his guns. He telephoned County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn last Wednesday and said he would begin shopping for a new convention site if Los Angeles did not agree to accept 1,500 tickets.

Mrs. Alford Wants Probe of Brutality

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Dale Alford, wife of the Arkansas congressman called on Little Rock's City Manager Board today to investigate what she called police brutality in quelling an anti-integration protest.

Mrs. Alford said in a letter to Mayor Werner C. Knapp she was "shocked and astonished to hear and to read the news that Police Chief Gene Smith used such brutality against the patriotic, unarmed Americans assembled peacefully in protest of 'forced' integration."

Smith led a score of club-swinging officers in breaking up a segregationist demonstration of 200 persons near Central High School last Wednesday, the day Little Rock's public high schools opened on an integrated basis.

Rep. Alford is an ardent segregationist. Mrs. Alford said that if the city manager board "cannot find time to look into this matter, I shall find it necessary and feasible to appeal to the National Defense Committee if the granddaughters of the American Revolution and the American Coalition of Patriotic Societies in Washington, D. C."

Her letter added: "I am sure you understand that such un-American acts cannot proceed without mobilizing every voice in America in denunciation and opposition."

Mrs. Alford signed the letter and wrote below her name: "Committee of Harassed American Patriots of Little Rock."

The letter also criticized the Arkansas Gazette for editorializing on the segregationist incident.

Efforts to reach Mrs. Alford and obtain details on this committee were unsuccessful.

Tests to Determine Food Poisoning Cause

ANGOLA, Ind. (AP) — The State Health Board and Miles Laboratories of Elkhart ran tests today to determine what caused the food poisoning of 730 adults and children at a Miles outing.

None of the victims was in serious condition and all but a handful were out of hospitals, but they were violently ill Saturday at a company picnic near here.

Dr. Andrew C. Offutt, state health commissioner, said the poisoning could have been a result of the picnic lunch remaining a few hours in an unrefrigerated truck.

Doctors described the poisoning as a mild form, but it left its victims in misery.

"People were dropping all around me like flies," said Earl Buckmaster, 56, Elkhart, a Miles employee.

About 3,000 persons attended the picnic.

U. S. Sends Up New Nike Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States launched the first in a series of new Nike-Asp research rockets today. It left a yellow-orange cloud that was visible over much of the Eastern seaboard.

The rocket was fired from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration station at Wallops Island on Virginia's Eastern Shore and emitted a 100-mile column of smoke beginning at an altitude of about 50 miles. It was topped by the large cloud that was yellow-orange in color.

NASA said the rocket had two objectives: 1. To determine wind direction and velocity over the wide range covered by the trial and cloud.

2. To measure diffusion or the rate at which matter spreads out in the upper atmosphere.

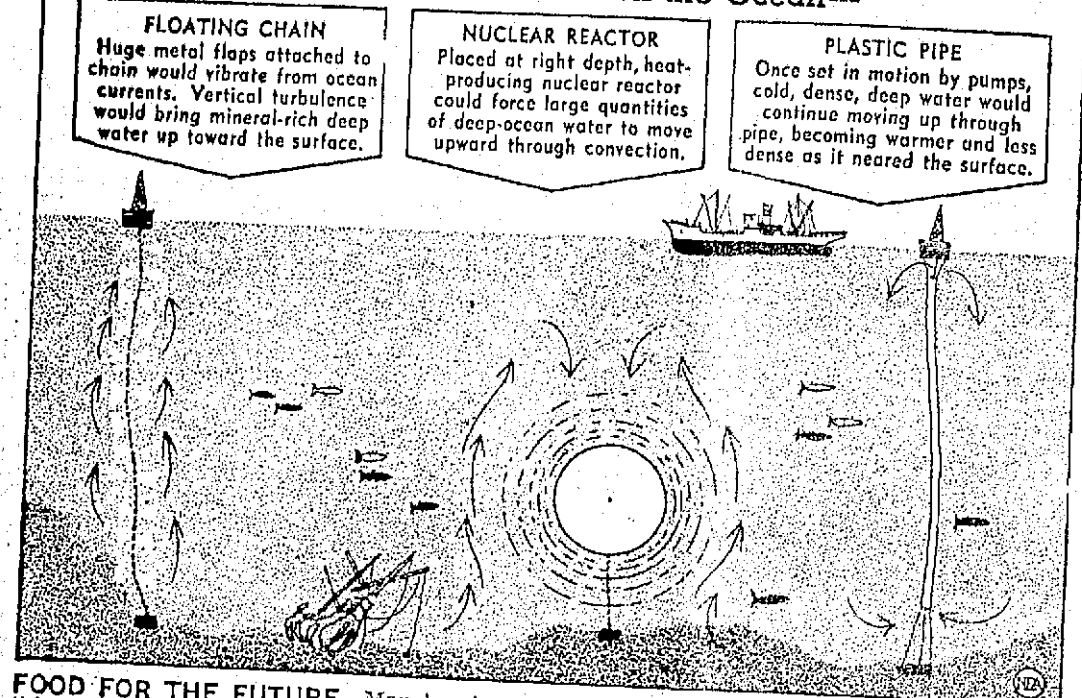

Weather bureaus from New York to Virginia had received telephone calls early this morning from people who had spotted the strange cloud. The rocket was launched at 5:18 a.m. and its trail and cloudy were visible about 30 minutes.

NASA cameras on the ground tracked the vapor. The data will be collected by the Geophysics Corp. of America and turned over to the space agency.

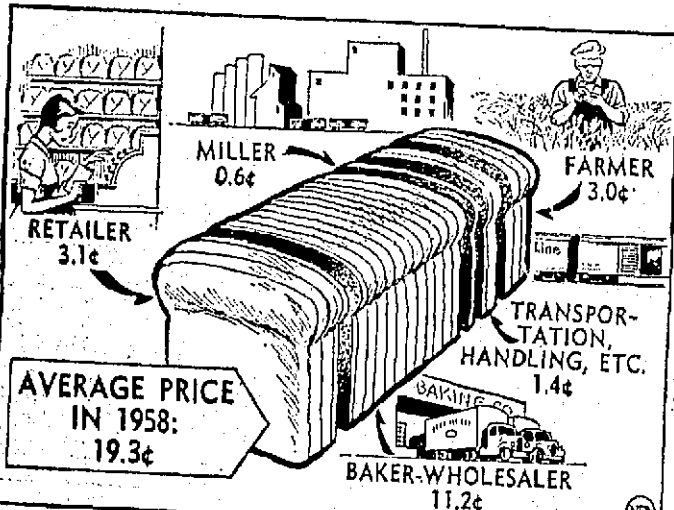

The yellow color of the giant flare is characteristic of burning sodium. It was set off by a thermite device when the rocket reached an altitude of about 50 miles.

As a last minute, write-in candidate, Alford attacked Hays as to moderate on the racial issue and beat him by 1,200 votes. The election is under investigation by House committee.

—Making "Pastures" in the Ocean—

FOOD FOR THE FUTURE—Man has begun to take a closer look at his watery planet in this day of expanding populations and dwindling resources. Some say that the oceans one day will be the most important means of feeding the billions. But oceans of the sea, which are abundant with life are limited to places where a natural vertical circulation brings nutrients up from the bottom to the sunlit waters where plant and animal life can flourish. Vast other oceanographers of the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council have suggested three possible methods, which are shown in simplified sketch above.

HOW YOU SLICE IT—Bread prices have risen every year since 1945, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture. While bread rose to a new high in 1958, the farmer's share dropped to 16 per cent of the price, as against 24 per cent in 1948. But increases in marketing charges more than made up the difference. Sketch above shows how the price you pay for a loaf of bread is sliced up among those who bring it to you.

The forge was a portable one, with a handle to turn to arrive the blower. Also there was a short bench holding an anvil and a vise. Joe Peele was cranking the through a banister of red hot coals. From a bushy sack, Grady Haskell lifted a heavy revolver. He flipped open the loading gate and spun the cylinder and dropped fat, yellow cartridges from the chambers, one by one. The weapon fully unloaded, he thrust the barrel of it into the forge.

Joe Peele grunted and pointed to the walnut grip of the gun. Three notches had been carved in it.

"Feller who owned that one was either a bragging liar or a man doled with a bad memory. He'd had to smoke down not notch a gun so he can remember."

Soon the barrel of the revolver began to glow. Protecting his hand with a piece of burlap, Grady Haskell took the butt of the gun, lifted it clear of the coals, put the end of the barrel in the vise and with a solid pull, bent the barrel at sharp right angles.

"There'll be no more notches in that one!"

Haskell watched Joe Peele's thin figure swing back and forth as he cranked away at the forge. Yesterday morning about this time Peele had been a ragged, unkempt human jerebel. Now he was a different man.

They kept stovards at it. Barrels of both revolvers and rifles. Every gun taken from the Beaverhead crowd, were heated and bent and ruined for any future use. Haskell had just thrown the last one aside to cool when Jimmie stepped through the station's rear door. He eyed the results of their labors.

"Just so much junk. What's with it now?"

"Into the river," Haskell said. From the crest of a small boneland tucked against a wall of pine timber, the Hayfork headquarters looked down across a full mile of high mountain meadow. Ranch buildings were of logs, low built and sturdy, with stake-and-rider corral fences and corrals, along the edge of the pines, a thick fringe of aspens held a belt of silver and pale gold color.

At the ranchhouse kitchen table Katherine Levening ate a solitary breakfast. In a simple red-and-white checked gingham dress, and with the dark luxury of her hair drawn smoothly back and held to by a bit of ribbon, she looked girlishly young and soberly wistful. For she had much to think of and worry about.

A man stepped from the cook-shack. It was Vince Tendler, pausing to lick an after-breakfast cigarette into shape. This done, he alighted and with smoke of it curling back across his shoulder, he came on toward the ranch-stride.

What was she going to do with this fellow, Vince Tendler? How was she to make him understand the extent of his authority and hold him in check to the limits of her own wishes and orders?

At the kitchen door he knocked, waiting, then entered without. Which brought Katherine around in open displeasure.

"Vince, I wish you'd wait for me to answer your knock, instead of come pushing in this way. Anybody would get the impression you owned the place."

He did not answer. He did not even seem to hear her. He was leaning over some problem of his own.

"I'm going to fire Sandy Lee!" She stared at him. "You're going to what? Fire Sandy Lee? To-day? You'll do nothing of the kind! Sandy is the oldest most faithful order on this ranch. He's been with Hayfork as far back as I can remember. Dad would never let him go and neither will I. So long as there is a Hayfork ranch, Sandy Lee will be part of it. That's final!"

"Nothing's final," said Tendler flatly. "And Jim Levening isn't running Hayfork now, or in condition to know what's best for it. Me, when I order a hand to do a thing, I expect it to be done. When it isn't, then that man is through so far as I'm concerned. I don't care who he is or how long he's been with the outfit."

"What order did Sandy refuse to obey?"

Tendler shrugged. "He's been a little uppish for some time, doing more what pleases him, instead of what he's told. Just now I asked him what he'd heard and seen in town last night. He wouldn't tell me, saying he was going to report direct to you. He might as well told me it was none of my business."

"I don't think he meant it that way at all," Katherine defended. "It's just that he likes to talk things over with me. Sandy Lee helped raise me, and he's just like a second father to me."

Tendler shrugged again. "He does what I tell him, or he's through on this ranch?"

Katherine moved to face him directly. She spoke sharply, for now she was sharply angry.

"Vince, it's time you and I had a real understanding! You are not making final judgment on all Hayfork affairs. I am running Hayfork until my father is able to be up and around and able to take over again. You are foreman, but nothing more than that. And should it come to a choice of whether you or Sandy Lee leaves the ranch, then it will be you who rides out. Is that thoroughly understood?"

XX

Like it or not Katherine Levening admitted that Vince Tendler carried an impressive atmosphere of power about him, even though it was strictly a physical thing. He was the sort to beat his way to an objective by sheer brute strength and persistence. Now he spoke again.

"Things you're forgetting, facts you're not looking at. You say you're going to boss Hayfork until your father is able to take over again. Well, it's hardly an even gamble. Jim Levening will ever come back that far."

"There's nothing Rudi Dubison like better than a chance to strip these hills of Hayfork cattle. Who's keeping them from it, right now? I am, Me-Vince Tendler! And doing it because I should I leave, in three months time you won't have a dozen head of cattle left. If I were you, I'd do a little thinking on that fact."

Anger still held her, but now also she knew a mounting uncertainty and unease. Every word he said was true.

Doc Venable might be right or he might be wrong on her father's chances for eventual recovery. While Rudi Dubison and his wild Beaverhead crowd definitely had Hayfork range and cattle.

Sounded another knock at the kitchen door and to Katherine's self who stepped in. He sensed the tension in the air immediately and his head jerked back and he looked startled.

"Maybe I better step outside again?"

"Not!" Katherine's exclamation was quick. "No, Sandy. Vince—I—we were waiting to hear from you. That deputy—he's still in town?"

"Still with us," Sandy nodded, with dry emphasis. "And something you can bet on—he'll be with us until he gets what he came into this country for. He won't be bluffed out, scared out or whipped out. Something Rudi Dubison and his crowd learned the hard way, last night."

"Rudi Dubison," Vince Tendler was jarred into heavy query. "What about Rudi Dubison? You mean he and Haskell tangled?"

"That's what—plenty! And after the smoke cleared, Dubison and his brave lads struck off home with their tails between their legs, minus all their guns, with Rudy Shedd dead across his saddle and Dubison with his face half bashed in by the butt of Joe Peele's old Greener shotgun. Yes, sir! I saw a tough man in action last night—a very tough man!"

Vince Tendler made a restless half turn.

"That don't add up. No one man handles Rudi Dubison and his crowd rough and single handed."

"This one man did," Sandy declared. "I was there and I saw it."

"How—how did it happen, Sandy?" Katherine's interest was quick, just a shade breathless.

Sandy told it as he had seen it, softening no angle of it. Finishing, he wagged his grizzled head in reflective admiration.

"Grady Haskell is all man. A fair one, too. He thanked me decent as you please for collecting the guns off that Beaverhead crowd."

"Which was a fool move on your part," accused Tendler. "It will set Dubison against Hayfork more than ever. It wasn't your place and you had no call to help Haskell."

"I had plenty of call," retorted Sandy. "First because Haskell told me to do it, and second because I was plumb tickled to see Dubison and his crowd well earned down. As for setting Dubison against Hayfork, he was all ways that, anyway. But it'll be considerable time before he'll feel like throwing rocks at us or anybody else. When he left town he was one sick hombre, his mind had to lift him on his horse and then hold him there. I saw him cut down to size last night."

"You," growled Tendler. "Sound like you're glad to have this Haskell fellow hanging around. Maybe you're forgetting why he's here and what he can do to this ranch and the people on it?"

"I ain't forgetting a thing," Sandy defended. "But I am seeing clearer than I did. Kalle girl, we can't keep covering up forever. Your friends in town, and Jim's, they been doing the best they know how, trying to help by blurring out the trail. But you can't fool this man Haskell."

Vince Tendler turned to Katherine Levening.

"Well, there you have him. Four fine, life-long friend and faithful defender. The man neither you or Jim Levening would ever fire. He'd sell you out to a snooping star packer."

Sandy's reaction was instantaneous and explosive.

"That's a lie!"

Tendler wheeled, took a threatening step.

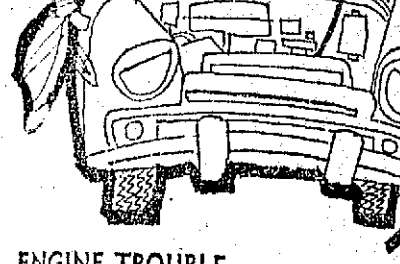

"Hold it!" broke in Sandy, coldly harsh. "Stay put, Tendler—stay right there. You throw a fist my way and I throw a gun on you—and use it! I'm too old a man to take a beating from such as you. Which reminds me of something Haskell wanted to know if I'd had any part in ganging him his first night in town. I felt good being able to look him in the eye and say I didn't. For it's my hunch all who did will be sorry before he's done with them."

"Go on," grunted Tendler, "go on! You're talking yourself right out of a job—taking sides against
